

TRADENEX – PROMOTIONAL OFFER

TERMS & CONDITIONS

1. Offer Configuration

The promotional offer is controlled from the Tradenex Admin Panel. The administrator may enable or disable an offer and configure the minimum qualifying deposit, bonus amount, title, message and applicable terms.

2. Eligibility and Bonus Application

When an offer is active, a promotional bonus is considered for an approved deposit that meets or exceeds the configured threshold. The configured bonus is applied only once to that qualifying deposit. Pending or rejected deposits do not receive the bonus.

3. Promotional Bonus Accounting

The promotional bonus is recorded separately from the user's actual deposited principal. It may increase the displayed account balance, but the promotional bonus itself is treated as locked promotional principal unless the applicable offer expressly states otherwise.

4. Existing Promotional Bonuses

Promotional amounts previously credited manually by administration are treated as historical promotional credits. They are maintained separately and are not automatically removed when the current offer changes.

5. Offer Changes

A changed offer applies to qualifying deposits processed after the updated offer becomes active. It does not retroactively change previously approved deposits or previously credited promotional bonuses.

6. Deposit and Account Records

Actual deposits, promotional bonuses, profit or earnings entries, referral rewards and withdrawals should be maintained as separate account records where supported by the platform.

7. Profit or Earnings Display

Where the platform displays a configured profit or earnings calculation, the displayed figure is calculated according to the current platform configuration and applicable account rules. A displayed rate or calculation should not be interpreted as a guarantee of future returns.

8. Duplicate Processing

The platform is designed to prevent the same approved deposit from receiving the same promotional bonus more than once. Verified technical or administrative errors may be reviewed and corrected using the relevant transaction records.

9. User Responsibility

Users should review the active offer, deposit threshold, bonus amount and Terms & Conditions before making a deposit and should retain their payment and transaction records.

10. Important Disclosure

This document describes promotional-account mechanics and is not financial, investment, tax or legal advice. Financial activity may involve risk. Users should independently assess applicable risks and legal requirements before participating.
